

Listening For Success (L4S) by NOSHC Handwriting Helpers (HH) by Kim4Kids, LLC

About Listening For Success (L4S):

Listening For Success was developed from the Buffalo Hearing and Speech Center's program, Language to Literacy. The program is dedicated to enhancing academic performance through the following skills: auditory processing, phonological awareness, phonics, expressive and receptive language, as well as teaching students to be self-advocates in the classroom and to use resources. Students will participate in classroom focused activities geared to enrich abilities to follow directions, maintain attention, and recall information.

L4S goals include:

- Establishing/improving organization skills
- Equipping students with compensatory strategies for improved attention, listening, and memory skills
- Teaching students to be self-advocates and to use resources
- Improving language skills: building vocabulary and understanding concepts
- Improving phonological awareness and phonics skills
- Reading, writing, and word attack skill enhancement
- Improving decoding and spelling skills
- Establishing specific strategies for improved reading comprehension

About Handwriting Helpers (HH):

Kimberly Bradley, MS, LOTR at Kim4Kids, LLC is pleased to offer a summer academic and enrichment program for handwriting. Handwriting Helpers is a program designed specifically for students who would benefit from academic preparation of written work for the upcoming school year. Handwriting Helpers has been developed to fit the writing needs and demands your child will experience in his or her upcoming grade level.

Each group is developed and directed by pediatric occupational therapist, Kimberly Bradley, MS, LOTR, who has exclusive experience of over 16 years in working with children with writing difficulties and teaching evidenced based strategies to make writing fun, interactive, and easier. She has also consulted with and educated countless teachers on best practice methods for handwriting instruction. Classes are led by pediatric occupational therapists. Whether you feel your child has difficulty with handwriting or not, Handwriting Helpers is a skill building program, as well as an enrichment program. Your child will get a jump start on writing demands for the upcoming school year.

In addition to the multi sensory handwriting enrichment program, a keyboarding program is also offered. Keyboarding is also an extremely important skill, as children are becoming exposed earlier and earlier to the keyboard. Early exposure can negatively impact keyboarding skills, as the child learns maladaptive techniques, rather than the efficient home row strategy. If you have specific questions about HH; contact Kim 504-430-2738.
